

Contents

On the Cover

Trimble's new VX instrument builds on the technology of the S6 to provide not only traditional total station capability, but scanning as well.

Features

14 The Future of Surveying All Over Again

Take a close-up look at Trimble's new VX instrument.

By Angus W. Stocking, LS

22 Woodward's Ice Bar

Accuracy on ice – detailing early-day methods of measuring base lines for triangulation.

By Jerry Penny, LS

28 The "Straight" on Magellan

The new owner of the former Ashtech/Thales company is committed to making the right decisions and the right investments.

By Marc Cheves, LS

Departments

38 RTN 101: Network Corrected Real-Time GPS/GNSS (Part 6)

Tips and tricks (confessions of an RTN support dude).

By Gavin Schrock, LS

50 Laser Scanning: 3D Laser Scanning – Time to Invest?

A long-time industry player uses the coming 3D world to make the case for laser scanning

By Gene Roe PhD, LS, PE

In This Issue

4 Editorial: Rendezvous in Winston-Salem

By Marc Cheves, LS

54 Reconnaissance: Servant-Leadership in the Workplace

By Gary Kent, LS

08 Point to Point: Our Role in Machine Control

By Joel Leininger, LS

59 Product Review: The DC50 & DC50 Assistant

By Al Pepling, LS

10 Surveyors Report: Our Uncertain Future

By Chris Ambourn, LS

72 Vantage Point: Between a Rock and a Wet Place

By Wendy Lathrop, LS, CFM

44 Geodetic Connections: OPUS Rapid Static

By Daniel J. Martin

65 Advertisers' Directory

66 MarketPlace