

Contents

On the Cover

At Woodcrest Village in Gilbert, Arizona, Atwell-Hicks Party Chief Josh Lemons uses a Trimble R8 to check in to a control point established using the AZGPS VRS network.

Features

10 A Private VRS Network Takes the Strain Out of Phoenix Surveying

Subscription networks are rapidly becoming a fundamental utility.
By Craig R. Dylan

26 Worried About the Future of Surveying? Not a Problem in Florida!

Focused and well-organized efforts have rejuvenated the Florida Surveying and Mapping Society and bolstered surveying education in the Sunshine State.
By Marc Cheves, LS

41 Education in Crisis: The Elephant that No One Sees

Is the lack of students' math abilities just the tip of a socialized education iceberg?
By Barry F. Kavanagh

45 Distance Learning: Something for Everybody

An Arizona surveyor works with Old Dominion University in Virginia to further his education.
By Thomas A. Liuzzo, LS

58 Campus GIS Will Improve Public Safety at LSU

Valuable GIS data will one day enhance safety throughout Baton Rouge.
By Douglas Drummond

Departments

20 Laser Scanning: DARPA Urban Challenge

Scanning innovations and artificial intelligence bring participants to the edge of their seats.
By Bruce Jenkins

50 Survey Reports: Preparing a Survey Report—The Focus

Here's a valuable guide to creating clear explanations of boundary decisions.
By Knud E. Hermansen, PhD, LS, JD

In This Issue

4 Editor's Corner: Competence and the State of Education
By Marc Cheves, LS

8 Point to Point: The HSA Advantage
By Joel Leminger, LS

64 Test Yourself: Where's the Archilochus colubris?
By Richard L. Elgin, PhD, LS, PE

72 Vantage Point: Walking the Line
By Wendy Lathrop, LS

67 Advertisers' Directory

68 MarketPlace